Been there, done that but were I to be tempted, MA would top my list.

* * * * * Ask me how to support ocean conservation!

Thanks, Peter and great to hear from you. We are very pleased with the decision.

Why don't you just come over here and make it easier? ☺

And Melissa and Christophe, let this email be fair notice that I plan to "headhunt" Seth at every possible opportunity. As you no doubt recognize, he is a fantastic attorney and a champion of the public trust in the Commonwealth. Hope all is well. This is a great decision.

December 19, 2022 (BOSTON, MA) – Massachusetts Governor-Elect Maura Healey has appointed Melissa Hoffer Climate Chief for the new administration. Conservation Law Foundation (CLF) released the following statement in response.

Biography

Christophe Courchesne has litigated environmental cases for nearly two decades. Before joining Vermont Law and Graduate School in 2022, he was Deputy Chief of the Energy and Environment Bureau and Assistant Attorney General at the Massachusetts Attorney General's Office, leading work on the climate crisis, federal policy, environmental and racial justice, and clean energy. Prior to his bureau leadership, Professor Courchesne was Chief of the Environmental Protection Division at the AG's Office, with oversight of the division's civil enforcement docket, federal litigation and advocacy challenging Trump-era regulatory rollbacks, and defense of Massachusetts environmental agencies. Professor Courchesne was previously a Senior Attorney at Conservation Law Foundation, an associate in the environmental, energy, and land use practices at Goodwin Procter LLP, and a law clerk for the Honorable Robert Cordy at the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court. He has been admitted to practice in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont and various federal courts.

Subject: NH office of energy & planning?

Hi Christophe –

Diana Chace, (copied on this email) a very capable and long-time volunteer in the VT CLF office on energy issues recently graduated with a Masters degree from VT Law School. She has an interview on Monday at the NH office of energy and planning. Would you be willing to talk with her and share any insights you might have on this office?

THANKS & I hope you are well. I miss you!

Sandy

Perfect. It'd be great if you could do 1-2 min about the Sustainable Solutions Lab. Our hope is Caitlin will do the same for the Conservation Law Foundation. Probably as quick intros before the screening, but perhaps after. Thank you! tp

Hi Tilly and friends:

Is there any expectation that I will say something? I would like 2 minutes just to mention what the (brand-new) Sustainable Solutions Lab was formed to do, so that people start thinking of it as a potential resource in the future. But unless you need me, I don't expect to say anything else, except perhaps in the Q&A period.

Okay?

Bob

Hi Eric, Lori, Christophe, Caitlin and Bob.

I hope you're having a wonderful holiday and as excited as we are about next Tuesday's BASG event. It's one thing to know that we need to transition to a clean energy economy. It's an entirely separate and much bigger thing to actually do it. You live it daily in many cases, I know. Visiting with a friend in Ashtabula, OH, a few weeks ago made the difficulty of the transition real for me like it had never been before.
